

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

University
Registrar's Office

Letter for English Language Instruction

Transcript Services
University Registrar's Office
172 St. George Street,
Toronto, Ontario, M5R 0A3 Canada
<https://registrar.utoronto.ca>

To whom it may concern:

This letter verifies that the official language of instruction and assessment at the University of Toronto is English. All courses, including textbooks and assessments (exams, thesis', etc.) are conducted in English, except for language courses designed to teach non-English languages.

The University delivers academic programs through in-person learning. Students attend on-campus activities except when students have University approval for off-campus activities (such as study abroad or work terms), or the calendar description for a program explicitly states that no in-person activities are required. While the University is committed to in-person instruction, it reserves the right to modify course delivery in response to health and safety emergencies or public health guidance.

This letter is official and available from the University Registrar's Office website:
<https://www.registrar.utoronto.ca/records-academics/transcripts/>.

Please contact transcripts@utoronto.ca should you have any questions about the authenticity of this document, or if you have any further questions regarding the official language of instruction.

Sincerely,

University Registrar's Office